Juristic person. In this Hold-harmless and Indemnity Agreement the term "juristic person" means an abstract, legal entity ens legis, such as a corporation, created by construct of law and considered as possessing certain legal rights and duties of a human being; an imaginary entity, such as Debtor, i.e. MARK EDWARD LASKOWSKI, Estate, which, on the basis of legal reasoning, is legally treated as a human being for the purpose of conducting commercial activity for the benefit of a biological, living being, such as Creditor.

"From the earliest times the law has enforced rights and exacted liabilities by utilizing a corporate concept * by recognizing, that is, juristic persons other than human beings. The theories by which this mode of legal operation has developed, has been justified, qualified, and defined are the subject matter of a very sizable library. The historic roots of a particular society, economic pressures, philosophic notions, all have had their share in the law's response to the ways of men in carrying on their affairs through what is now the familiar device of the corporation. * Attribution of legal rights and duties to a juristic person other than man is necessarily a metaphorical process. And none the worse for it. No doubt, "Metaphors in law are to be narrowly watched." Cardozo, J., in Berkey v. Third Avenue R., Co., 244 N.Y. 84, 94, "But all instruments of thought should be narrowly watched lest they be abused and fail in their service to reason." See U.S. v. SCOPHONY CORP. OF AMERICA, 333 U.S. 795; 68 S. Ct. 855; 1948 U.S."

Living, breathing, flesh-and-blood man. In this Hold-harmless and Indemnity Agreement the term "living, breathing, flesh-and-blood man" means the Creditor, mark: laskowski, a sentient, living being, as distinguished from an artificial legal construct, ens legis, i.e. a juristic person, created by construct of law.

"There, every man is independent of all laws, except those prescribed by nature. He is not bound by any institutions formed by his fellowmen without his consent." CRUDEN V. NEALE, 2 N.C. 338 (1796) 2 S.E. 70.

There are few if any federal crimes that can be committed outside federal territory. Congressional insiders know Congress can punish few acts outside federal territory, so the federal territorial trial courts have been disguised as courts of justice for those who voluntarily submit themselves to federal prosecution. Among others, lawful users of medical marijuana and those who aid and assist them often find themselves federally charged with crimes that do not exist where they were alleged to have occurred.

AN EXPLANATION

The federal government is renowned for its complexity, so it is extremely gratifying to be able to compress an understanding of that government and its law into a couple of sheets. Pages 42 and 43 of [Title 28 U.S.C.] of the federal government's own Judiciary and Judicial Procedure Code book printed by the Government Printing Office are the most important pages of law in the federal government. On those two pages, Congress explains that the territorial composition of The United States district courts is only that area subject to the exclusive legislative power of Congress. Did you think that the 50 United States were subject to Congress's lawmaking power? To answer that I offer a riddle: What country gets smaller the more land you add to it? The United States of America is thought to be a nation/state but it is a confederation of nation/states created by the Articles of Confederation and it consists of The 50 United States. If Washington, D.C. and Puerto Rico are combined with The 50 United States, you don't get a bigger and better United States of America you get the government of The United States and 50 sovereign states. Those odd two pieces of real estate won't ever combine to form a whole nation/state and that is key to understanding The United States district courts.

The inability to combine The 50 United States, Washington D.C. and Puerto Rico to form one nation is what explains and gives us the "territorial composition" of the districts and divisions found in [Sections 81-131 of Title 28 U.S.C.] In the rest of Chapter 5, Congress explains that only one district court in all of the 50 states, Hawaii, has been established as an Article III judicial court and explains why that court cannot function as a court exercising judicial power. If judicial power is to be exercised in the several states, it will have to be exercised by state courts, because the districts have none. The federal government in the several states will consist of two government powers since the federal courts have not been granted Article III, Section 2 judicial power. While one or two branches of government may be good enough to do government work, it takes all three to lawfully act upon a citizen.

For the purpose of federal statutes and "Acts of Congress" defined above, the several states of the Union of states, collectively referred to as The "United States of America" or the "freely associated compact states," are considered to be "foreign countries" with respect to the national government. Here is the definition of the term "foreign country" right from the Treasury Regulations:

[26 CFR 1.911-2(h):]

The term "foreign country" when used in a geographical sense includes any territory under the sovereignty of a government other than that of The United States. It includes the territorial waters of the foreign country (determined in accordance with the laws of the United States), the air space over the foreign country, and the seabed and subsoil of those submarine areas which are adjacent to the territorial waters of the foreign country and over which the foreign country has exclusive rights, in accordance with international law, with respect to the exploration and exploitation of natural resources.

If we examine the Title 28, which is the Judiciary and Judicial Procedure statutes governing all federal courts, including the United States District Courts, we find the following useful evidence to confirm the above assertion and conclusion:

[TITLE 28 PART I CHAPTER 13 Sec. 297.]

[Sec. 297. - Assignment of judges to courts of the freely associated compact states]

(a) The Chief Justice or the chief judge of the United States Court of Appeals for the Ninth Circuit may assign any circuit or district judge of the Ninth Circuit, with the consent of the judge so assigned, to serve temporarily as a judge of any duly constituted court of the freely associated compact states whenever an official duly authorized by the laws of the respective compact state requests such assignment and such assignment is necessary for the proper dispatch of the business of the respective court.

(b) The Congress consents to the acceptance and retention by any judge so authorized of reimbursement from the countries referred to in subsection (a) of all necessary travel expenses, including transportation, and of subsistence, or of a reasonable per diem allowance in lieu of subsistence. The judge shall report to the Administrative Office of the United States Courts any amount received pursuant to this subsection.

Note that Congress, in subparagraph (a) above refers to the "freely associated compact states" in subparagraph (b) as "countries." That is because they fit in every respect the description of "foreign country" found above in 26 CFR 1.911-2(h):

Foreign government: "The government of The United States of America, as distinguished from the government of the several states." (Black's Law Dictionary, 6th Edition)

Foreign Laws: "The laws of a foreign country or sister state." (Black's Law Dictionary, 6th Edition)

Foreign States: "Nations outside of The United States" Term may also refer to another state; i.e. a sister state. The term "foreign nations," should be construed to mean all nations and states other than that in which the action is brought; and hence, one state of the Union is foreign to another, in that sense." (Black's Law Dictionary, 6th Edition)

The California Supreme Court agreed with the conclusions of this section when it stated in the case of People ex re. Atty. Gen. V. Naglee, 1 Cal. 234 (1850):

"In determining the boundaries of apparently conflicting powers between states and the general government, the proper question is, not so much what has been, in terms, reserved to the states, as what has been, expressly or by necessary implication granted by the people to the national government; for each state possess all the powers of an independent and sovereign nation, except so far as they have been ceded away by the constitution. The federal government is but a creature of the people of the states, and, like an agent appointed for definite and specific purposes, must show an express or necessarily implied authority in the charter of its appointment, to give validity to its acts.

The power of taxation in independent nations, is unrestricted as to things, and, with the exception of foreign ambassadors and agents, and their retinue, is unlimited as to persons; and is deemed a power indispensable to their welfare and even their existence. The several states may, therefore, subject to the above restrictions, tax everything within their territorial limits, and every person, whether citizen or foreigner, who resides under the protection of their respective governments." [Emphasis added]

Once again, Title 28, Judiciary and Judicial Procedure, describes the jurisdiction and operation of the federal district and circuit (appellate) courts. Section 1603 contains definitions and includes a very interesting and related definition of the term "foreign state":

[TITLE 28 PART IV CHAPTER 97 JURISDICTIONAL IMMUNITIES OF FOREIGN STATES]

[Sec. 1603. * Definitions]

For purposes of this chapter -

(a) A "foreign state," except as used in section 1608 of this title, includes a political subdivision of a foreign state or an agency or instrumentality of a foreign state as defined in subsection (b).

(b) An "agency or instrumentality of a foreign state" means any entity - (1) which is a separate legal person, corporate or otherwise, and (2) which is an organ of a foreign state or political subdivision thereof, or a majority of whose shares or other ownership interest is owned by a foreign state or political subdivision thereof, and

(3) which is neither a citizen of a State of the United States as defined in section 1332 (c) and (d) of this title, nor created under the laws of any third country. (c) the "United States" includes all territory and waters, continental or insular, subject to the jurisdiction of the United States.

We have no choice to conclude, based on the definition above that the sovereign 50 states of The United States of America are considered "foreign states," which means they are outside the jurisdiction of the federal courts in most cases. There are exceptions to this general rule, but most of these exceptions occur when the parties involved reside in two different "foreign states" or in a territory (referred to as a "State") of the federal United States and wish to voluntarily grant the federal courts jurisdiction over their issues to simplify the litigation. The other interesting outcome of the above is that We the People are "instrumentalities" of those foreign states, because we fit the description above as:

1. A separate legal person.
2. An organ of the foreign state, because we:
 - 2.1. Fund and sustain its operations with our taxes.
 - 2.2. Select and oversee its officers with our votes.
 - 2.3. Change its laws through the political process, including petitions.
 - 2.4. Control and limit its power with our jury and grand jury service.
 - 2.5. Protect its operation with our military service

Without the involvement of every citizen of every "foreign state" in the above process, the state governments would disintegrate and cease to exist, based on the way our system is structured now. The people, are the sovereigns, according to the Supreme Court: Julliard v. Greenman, 110 U.S. 421 (1884); Perry v. U.S., 294 U.S. 330 (1935); Yik Wo v. Hopkins, 118 U.S. 356 (1886).

Because we the people are the sovereigns, then the government is there to serve us and without people to serve, we wouldn't need a government! How much more of an "instrumentality" can you be as a natural person of the body politic of your state? By the way, here is the definition of "instrumentality" right from Black's Law Dictionary, Sixth Edition, page 801:

UNOFFICIAL COPY

Instrumentality: Something by which an end is achieved; a means, medium, agency. Perkins v. State, 61 Wis.2d 341, 212 N.W.2d 141, 146.

Another section in that same Chapter 97 above says these foreign states have judicial immunity:

[TITLE 28 PART IV CHAPTER 97 Sec. 1602.]

[Sec. 1602. - Findings and declaration of purpose]

The Congress finds that the determination by United States courts of the claims of foreign states to immunity from the jurisdiction of such courts would serve the interests of justice and would protect the rights of both foreign states and litigants in United States courts. Under international law, states are not immune from the jurisdiction of foreign courts insofar as their commercial activities are concerned, and their commercial property may be levied upon for the satisfaction of judgments rendered against them in connection with their commercial activities. Claims of foreign states to immunity should henceforth be decided by courts of the United States and of the States in conformity with the principles set forth in this chapter

Why is this important? Because as you will find out below, my income qualifies as "foreign income" and I qualify as a nonresident alien who lives in a foreign country if I was born outside of the federal zone and inside the United States of America. This is important because if I have only income not connected with a "trade or business in the United States" and I am a nonresident alien, then my income is not subject to federal income tax:

[Sec. 1.864-2 Trade or business within the United States.]

(b) Performance of personal services for foreign employer--(1) Excepted services. For purposes of paragraph (a) of this section, the term "engaged in trade or business within the United States" does not include the performance of personal services--

(i) For a nonresident alien individual, foreign partnership, or foreign corporation, not engaged in trade or business within the United States at any time during the taxable year, or
[26 CFR * 1.871-7]

Taxation of nonresident alien individual not engaged in trade or U.S. business.

Imposition of tax. (1) "a nonresident alien individual" is NOT subject to the tax imposed by Section 1* [Subtitle A, Chapter 1]

IRS Publication 515 (Nov. 2001), Withholding Tax on Nonresident Aliens and Foreign Entities, confirms the nontaxability of income earned outside of the federal United States (or federal zone) by a Nonresident Alien on page 21:

"Services performed outside the United States. Compensation paid to a nonresident alien (other than a resident of Puerto Rico, discussed later) for services performed outside the [federal] United States is not considered wages and is not subject to graduated withholding or 30% withholding."

As a Sovereign living in one of the several states and outside the federal zone, I live in a "foreign country" and am a nonresident alien, and are therefore not liable for federal income taxes.

In the context of federal taxes, [28 U.S.C. *2201] says that federal courts may not make declaratory judgments regarding income taxes and may not address "rights or legal relations":

[TITLE 28 PART VI CHAPTER 151 Sec. 2201.]

[Sec. 2201. - Creation of remedy]

(a) In a case of actual controversy within its jurisdiction, except with respect to Federal taxes other than actions brought under section 7428 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, a proceeding under section 505 or 1146 of title 11, or in any civil action involving an antidumping or countervailing duty proceeding regarding a class or kind of merchandise of a free trade area country (as defined in section 1181(10) of the Tariff Act of 1930), as determined by the administering authority, any court of the United States, upon the filing of an appropriate pleading, may declare the rights and other legal relations of any interested party seeking such declaration, whether or not further relief is or could be sought. Any such declaration shall have the force and effect of a final judgment or decree and shall be reviewable as such.

The "rights" they are talking about in the above statute, are my Constitutional protected rights found in the Bill of Rights! The questions then becomes, where is the only jurisdiction in which the U.S. Congress can legislate away enforcement of my Constitutional protected rights or abrogate their responsibility and oath of office to "support and defend the Constitution against all enemies, foreign and domestic?" A careful reading of the Supreme Court case Downes v. Bidwell, 182 U.S. 244 (1901) provides the answer.

"The Constitution had attached to it irrevocably. There are steps which can never be taken backward. The tie that bound the States of Maryland and Virginia to the Constitution could not be dissolved, without at least the consent of the Federal and state governments to a formal separation. The mere cession of the District of Columbia to the Federal government relinquished the authority of the states, but it did not take it out of the United States or from under the aegis of the Constitution. Neither party had ever consented to that construction of the cession. If, before the District was set off, Congress had passed an unconstitutional act affecting its inhabitants, it would have been void."
[Downes v. Bidwell, 182 U.S. 244 (1901)]

The table below summarizes the results our reading the Downes case to answer the question of where Constitutional protected rights apply:

(1) Type of property (Territories) Constitutional Rights (No) Example (Puerto Rico, Virgin Islands, American Samoa, etc.) Authorities (1. Downes v. Bidwell, 182 U.S. 244 (1901)) (2. McCulloch v. Maryland, 4 Wheat. 316, 422, 4 L. ed. 579, 605, and in United States v. Gratiot, 14 Pet. 526, 10 L. ed. 573)

(2) Type of property (Federal enclaves within states:) Constitutional Rights (NA) Example (NA) Authorities (NA)

(2.1) Type of property (Ceded to federal gov. after joining union) Constitutional Rights (Yes) Example (Federal courthouses) Authorities (Downes v. Bidwell, 182 U.S. 244 (1901))

(2.2) Type of property (Also enclaves at the time of admission) Constitutional Rights (No) Example (Indian reservations) Authorities (Downes v. Bidwell, 182 U.S. 244 (1901))

(3) Type of property (Sovereign states) Constitutional Rights (Yes) Example (Illinois, California, Texas, etc.) Authorities (Downes v. Bidwell, 182 U.S. 244 (1901))

(4) Type of property (District of Columbia) Constitutional Rights (Yes) Example (District of Columbia) Authorities (1. Downes v. Bidwell, 182 U.S. 244 (1901)) (2. Loughborough v. Blake, 18 U.S. 317, 5 Wheat. 317, 5 L. ed. 98 (1820))

(4) Type of property (Foreign countries (nations)) Constitutional Rights (No) Example (Japan) Authorities (1. Downes v. Bidwell, 182 U.S. 244 (1901)) (2. Cook v. Tait, 265 U.S. 47 (1924)) (3. McCulloch v. Maryland, 4 Wheat. 316, 422, 4 L. ed. 579, 605 (1819)) (4. United States v. Gratiot, 14 Pet. 526, 10 L. ed. 573) (5. Springville v. Thomas, 166 U.S. 707, 41 L. ed. 1172, 17 Sup. Ct. Rep. 717 (1897))

The answer to the question of where Congress can legislate away rights is the federal zone, and in particular, those lands where the Constitution has never been applied, such as the territories of Guam, Puerto Rico, and American Samoa. These areas, incidentally, are the only areas where "U.S. citizens" actually reside under 26 CFR 31.3121(e). The reason for this is that the Constitution is an irrevocable social contract between the inhabitants and the government that attaches to the land. Congress cannot unilaterally extricate itself from this contract. The District of Columbia is an example of federal land where the Bill of Rights apply, because that area once belonged to the states of Maryland and Virginia and was ceded to the federal government when it was formed and after the Constitution was ratified by those two states. This conclusion is also confirmed by the fact that only one of the two Article III (of the Constitution) courts anywhere in our country are located in District of Columbia, and the only District Court in the District of Columbia must be an Article III court, because it is one of the few courts that exists on land that is not part of the federal zone.

Furthermore, there is only one place in the federal courts where the Congress can pass legislation that suspends enforcement of the Constitution, and that is in Article I courts inside the federal zone or Article III courts in administering laws that only apply to the federal zone. This ought to be a BIG clue that Subtitle A federal income taxes can only apply in federal territories that are already devoid of Constitutional protections.

close - A parcel of land that is surrounded by a boundary of some kind, such as a hedge or a fence. To culminate, complete, finish, or bring to an end. To seal up CLOSE. Signifies the interest in the soil, and not merely a close or enclosure in the common acceptance of the term. [Doct. & Stud. 307 East, 207 2 Stra. 1004; 6 East, 1541 Burr. 133 1 Ch. R. 180.]

2. In every case where one man has a right to exclude another from his land, the law encircles it, if not already enclosed, with an imaginary fence; and entitles him to a compensation in damages for the injury he sustains by the act of another passing through his boundary, denominating the injurious act a breach of the enclosure. [Hamm. 111 151; Doct. & Stud. dial. 1, c. 8, p. 30; 2 Whart. 430.]

3. An ejectment will not lie for a close. [11 Rep. 55; 1 Rolle's R. 55 Salk. 254 Cro. Eliz. 235; Adams on Eject. 24.]

Fiction of Law * Fictitious Plaintiff

legal fictions - such as that of corporations - being artificial persons, are lawfully restricted from "entering into contracts" with "live flesh-and-blood human beings," and are lawfully restricted to using only "UPPER-CASE" letters with regards to their title identification upon all contracts and legal papers, this is to legally/lawfully distinguish them from live flesh-and-blood "people" so to prevent them from ever imprisoning human beings as slaves, this has remained well grounded, well established mandate for hundreds of years, an early landmark Supreme Court case from the year 1795 further defined this grounded fact very well;

[Penhallow v. Doane's Administrators (3 U.S. 54; 1 L. Ed. 7; Dall. 54.)] defines governments succinctly:

"governments are corporations." Inasmuch as every government is an artificial person, an abstraction, and a creature of the mind only, a government can interface only with other artificial persons. The imaginary-having neither actuality nor substance - is foreclosed from creating and attaining parity with the tangible. The legal manifestation of this is that no government, as well as any law, agency, aspect, court, etc. therefore, can concern itself with anything other than corporate, artificial persons and contracts between them."

"The omission of the Christian name by either plaintiff or defendant in a legal process prevents the court from acquiring jurisdiction," -Bouvier's Law Dictionary, 8thed., pg. 2287. This means that corporations cannot lawfully bring suit against people. But people can bring suit against corporations.

[* 3-305. DEFENSES AND CLAIMS IN RECOURPMENT]

(a) Except as stated in subsection (b), the right to enforce the obligation of a party to pay an instrument is subject to the following:

o (1) a defense of the obligor based on (i) infancy of the obligor to the extent it is a defense to a simple contract, (ii) duress, lack of legal capacity, or illegality of the transaction which, under other law, nullifies the obligation of the obligor, (iii) fraud that induced the obligor to sign the instrument with neither knowledge nor reasonable opportunity to learn of its character or its essential terms, or (iv) discharge of the obligor in insolvency proceedings;

o (2) a defense of the obligor stated in another section of this Article or a defense of the obligor that would be available if the person entitled to enforce the instrument were enforcing a right to payment under a simple contract; and

o (3) a claim in recoupment of the obligor against the original payee of the instrument if the claim arose from the transaction that gave rise to the instrument; but the claim of the obligor may be asserted against a transferee of the instrument only to reduce the amount owing on the instrument at the time the action is brought.

* (b) The right of a holder in due course to enforce the obligation of a party to pay the instrument is subject to defenses of the obligor stated in subsection (a)(1), but is not subject to defenses of the obligor stated in subsection (a)(2) or claims in recoupment stated in subsection (a)(3) against a person other than the holder.

* (c) Except as stated in subsection (d), in an action to enforce the obligation of a party to pay the instrument, the obligor may not assert against the person entitled to enforce the instrument a defense, claim in recoupment, or claim to the instrument (Section 3-306) of another person, but the other person's claim to the instrument may be asserted by the obligor if the other person is joined in the action and personally asserts the claim against the person entitled to enforce the instrument. An obligor is not obliged to pay the instrument if the person seeking enforcement of the instrument does not have rights of a holder in due course and the obligor proves that the instrument is a lost or stolen instrument.

* (d) In an action to enforce the obligation of an accommodation party to pay an instrument, the accommodation party may assert against the person entitled to enforce the instrument any defense or claim in recoupment under subsection (a) that the accommodated party could assert against the person entitled to enforce the instrument, except the defenses of discharge in insolvency proceedings, infancy, and lack of legal capacity.

These are prohibitions upon the activity of The States. A State cannot directly take any step in any degree to directly invade or violate any of these provisions. A State cannot lend its aid in any degree to any person or corporation to effectuate a violation of these absolute prohibitions indirectly or obliquely lest a mockery be made of the Constitution of The United States.

A more serious and obvious question arises. Can The Legislative Branch or The Executive Branch or The Judicial Branch of the Government of The United States authorize a State to invade the absolute prohibitions against The States expressly set out in the Constitution, or are the three departments of the U.S. Government incompetent to authorize such an invasion. The answer is obvious. The absolute prohibitions in the Constitution of The United States are impregnable. The Constitution is ordained and established in the name of the people. It is a law for the Governments of The States and The United States. The people said what they meant and they meant what they said.

Assume that Congress by attempted enactment would pass a law authorizing a State to deprive a person of Life, Liberty or property without due process of law. It would obviously be unconstitutional. The same is true of any other provision set out. Any attempt by Congress or The Legislature or The Executive or The Judiciary to authorize any State to invade any of the prohibitions is void. See Edwards v. Kearzey U.S. Supreme Court. 6 Otto 795.

No amount of perverted thinking or skullduggery can justify the fatal magnitude of the consequences which are to follow to total destruction of the Constitution of The United States by the Clergy, the Money Changers and those subversives in public office engaged in active treason against The Constitution.
