To have and to hold the said premises with the appurtenances thereto in trust and for uses and purposes herein and in said trust agreement set forth.

The interest of the third party in the land or other property may be registered in the register of title to the land or other property by the owner of the land or other property, or by the third party, if the third party has a right to be registered as owner of the land or other property.

On the other hand, if the author uses a single word, the reader registers the meaning of the word, whereas the reader registers words in the combination of the words, i.e., their meaning in the words' context. In this case, the reader's perception of words is similar to perception of the statics, i.e., it is based on the reader's previous knowledge.

And now, if I might be allowed to express my views more fully, it may be thought that the action of the State of New York in 1914, in the event of its becoming necessary, is of little value.

In witness whereof the parties have signed this 26th day of October, 1990.
