where  $\gamma$  and  $\delta$  are parameters that control the shape of the distribution. The parameters  $\gamma$  and  $\delta$  are estimated by maximizing the log-likelihood function. The log-likelihood function is given by:

$$l(\gamma, \delta) = \sum_{i=1}^n \ln f(x_i; \gamma, \delta)$$ where  $f(x; \gamma, \delta)$  is the probability density function of the generalized gamma distribution. The maximum likelihood estimates of  $\gamma$  and  $\delta$  are obtained by solving the following equations:

The generalized gamma distribution is a flexible distribution that can model a wide range of data. It is particularly useful for modeling data that is skewed and has a heavy right tail. The generalized gamma distribution is also useful for modeling data that is subject to censoring or truncation.
