As an aside, I am very pleased with Paul Thomas, our new Executive Vice President. In addition to great personal ability, he is a solid professional, with a good work ethic, and a clear sense of what is important. He has been instrumental in the development of our investment strategy, and has been a key member of our management team since his arrival. He is a valuable asset to the company, and I am confident that he will continue to contribute significantly to our success.

The following is a copy of the letter sent by the Association of American Architects to the Secretary of State on May 20, 1942, concerning the proposed legislation to prohibit the importation of architectural services from foreign countries.

In William Wilson, the grandson, informed him he was born on April 3, 1884.
